TWO SIDES OF A PICTURE

WHEN we consider the rapid progress of Buenos Ayres during the last five years and see the genius of European civilization pushing forth, every day, new efforts to supplant decayed systems which savoured of anti-deluvian society, we are tempted to believe the golden age has revisited earth, and the Tempe Argentino is something more than a dream of Sr. Sastre. Gen. Mitre is the Jupiter Tonans of our republicanOlympus;Gellyobes wears the helmet of Mars; Rawson is Esculapius personified; Marmol sings as sweetly as Orpheus; Gov. Saavedra, like Pan, is a rural deity, with his attendant satyrs; Elizalde performs the office of state-Mercury, per mare, per terram, with foreign office despatches, Sarsfield provides the sinews of war as Vulcan did of old, and Costa takes Apollo's post as patron of learning, arts &c. The goddesses are behind the scene; and fauns, and inferior celestials, abound on all sides.

But joco amoto seria quæramus: we do not seek to carry out the extravagant idea of our chief school-inspector. It is undeniable that we are going ahead fast, and that B.Ayres commands more attention in Europe, at present, than any other part of S. America.New railways,new banks cotton-growing, sheep-farming, immigration &c. prove this flattering statement, and justify our honest pride in Mr.Hadfield's sentence "the Standard has immensely served the Republic and especially B.Ayres, in England:" for it has contributed more or less to the success of each and all. Vessels,freighted with enterprising explorers, sterling capital, enlightened aspirations, industrious habits, and untiring energy, arrive daily in our port: every week sees a host of patented inventions, new houses of business,increasing trade, and improved education. The last generation would now gaze with astonishment at the "city of the Holy Trinity" if,like the seven sleepers, they returned to life after a rest of some years. Hence Porteños naturally boast of progress and refinement: but this is all couleur de rose,and we should look also to the shady side of the picture.

We have gas in our streets,but alas! no pavement, no drainage, no water supply-We have free institutions & liberty of worship,but we have such imperfect police that a messenger of the Standard goes about daily to recover accounts, after robbing us of 1860 dollars, and five vigilantes escape encountering him. We have native and foreign papers, but free press is a hot-house plant an exotic not suited to the climate. We have a medical board with high sounding titles, but our sanitary precautions are few, and the public cemetery is a disgrace. We have splendid churches,but no religious sentiment: the organist plays Il Trovatore at mass, and young people converse rather than pray. We have several railways, some projected, but our suburban roads are perfect quagmires. We have numerous shipping, but no docks, no harbour, We have a large home and foreign trade, but imperfect judiciary system. We have,at last, peace and a good Government, but the old hot water faction impedes every act of reform.We have a University, and public schools, but our Doctors of both faculties know little about foreign countries and scarcely more about their own. We have an immense fund of youthful patriotism, but not much experience and even less public spirit. In fine, we have unrivalled advantages attended with unparalleled drawbacks.

If the number of each is equal, there is still a consolation in the fact that every day makes Buenos Ayres wiser and better. Abuses are wearing away, improvements multiplying. The best signs of the moral revolution are—1st. Gov. Savedra's circular of camp reform. —2nd. Dr Elizalde's despatch refusing the Hispano-American alliance—3rd. The extreme sensitiveness of our citizens as to what they will think in England about the Guardia Monte murder and its consequences.

OUR TRIAL BY JURY.

IN England, when a foreigner is charged with an offence, he has a right to demand that one-half of the jury be composed of his own countrymen. In Buenos Ayres, the question has as yet never been raised; but we hope and trust that it is the same.

If, unhappily, according to the laws of this country, we cannot demand this as a right, we at least can ask it as a favor. Many questions will arise on the interpretation of our articles, which none but those most intimately acquainted with our language are fit to judge; and one of the most flagrant acts of injustice would be to condemn us on the verdict of a jury, who probably know no more about the peculiarities of our idiom, than of the imperishable institution which they victimize and abuse.

To try a foreign paper for insulting the country and institutions of the very jurymen themselves, is such a humbug, that we cannot bring ourselves to believe that any liberal Government would lend itself to the matter.

The liberty of the foreign press in Buenos Ayres is too sacred a question to be trifled with, and if a fair and impartial jury is to be found, we have a right to demand it.

One of the fundamental principles of jurisprudence recognized in all countries and in all ages, is that none shall be permitted to decide in their own cause.

The trial of the STANDARD, upon the charges alleged against it, by a jury composed solely of Porteños, will be nothing else than the accusers trying their own case.

The Government may, with such a jury, bring in a verdict against us; but it will labour in vain to convince the world that we are guilty; it will labour in vain to prove that there exists in Buenos Aires either trial by jury or liberty for the Press.

If, on the other hand, we are tried by a jury composed half of Englishmen and half of natives and that jury unanimously give a verdict against us, all that we could write and publish would not acquit us; Buenos Ayres would be regarded in Europe as the home of free institutions—probably the only spot in South America where trial by jury is a reality, and where the liberty of a foreign press is guaranteed.

The President of this Republic is a man of varied experience, and we feel confident that, if the STANDARD is to be tried by a jury, he will not lay himself open to the charge of having packed a jury of alcaldes, country judges, and "Tribuneros," to try a foreign paper for manfully attacking abuses, and demanding justice for our murdered countrymen.

EDITOR's TABLE.

THE Boca Railway Co. seems to be going a-head. We learn, with much pleasure, that the total capital required will be subscribed in this city, by three or four influential parties. The capital required is only £20 000. It is a matter of surprise that so useful a road, with such paying prospects, should be left so long undone. The average amount of freight is estimated at 160,000 tons for the year; besides this, it will have a greater passenger traffic than any other railway about this city.

It is with much regret that we are obliged to call attention to the terrible state of the camp in the partido of Arrecifes. A gentleman from that neighbourhood called on us yesterday, and gave us a lamentable description of the state of affairs. It would seem as if the authorities are quite powerless in that partido, and that they can do nothing o mend matters:

We are fond of races, and like sport as well as any one, but we think if Gen. Hornos would employ his Patria in chasing the robbers in that locality, he would confer a benefit on the country.

The legality of monopolies, liberty of the Press, rights of foreigners under treaties, &c, perhaps are subjects a little too abstruse for some of us; but the frightful state of the roads in the immediate vicinity of the city, is a matter within the comprehension of us all. We approve of Governor Saavedra's ministerial appointments, and learn with much pleasure that our talented provincial minister is a practical camp-man. On behalf, therefore of a struggling, but respected portion of our community—the milk men—we appeal to you, Sr. Acosta; the pantanos are frightful, and the mud truly awful. Probably if you would bring your enlightened genius to play upon the Barracas and San José roads, you would be able to remove the obstacles which impede our having an early breakfast. There is nothing of the "alta politica" in repairing roads and filling up pantanos; and the less a man knows of Vattel and Storey, the better is he adapted to remedy these evils.

SILK FROM MONTE VIDEO.

According to the latest advices from the River Plate, a very important item of commerce is about to be added to the resources of Monte Video which promises to give a new element of prosperity to the trading prospects of that republic. Eighty specimens of a hardy description of silkworm, the gusano recino, were introduced scarcely eight months ago, and at the present time they are counted by millions, being the result of five generations in this short space of time. The recino plant, upon which they feed, grows spontaneously in the country, and of such fine quality, and so appropriate for the food of the worms, that the silk cocoons elaborated by them present a consistency and weight superior to those produced in Europe, or even in China. These facts have naturally excited the interest of speculators, and increased the demands on the first introducer. Specimens of cocoons are expected in England by next mail, and it is confidently anticipated that silk will, after a short time, figure prominently among the productions of the Plate. This branch of industry requires no capital, and is not subject to the accidents attendant on other occupations, while it is peculiarly adapted for women and children. The silkworms have passed through the ordeal of an unusually severe winter; which they resisted without suffering the losses that generally occur with the China worm. These facts afford another promising incentive to emigration to Monte Video, where those who seek to improve their position are certain eventually to attain their object, if the aim be but properly directed.

Morning Post.

IRELAND.

The meeting at the Mansion-house yesterday for the relief of the distress in Lancashire was in every respect one of the most gratifying held in Dublin for many years. I never saw such quiet earnestness and cordial interests manifested in any assembly of Irishmen consisting of members of different denominations and political parties. There was no attempt to oratory, no affectation of the pathetic; yet the crowded audience of liverymen, drawn from their offices and their suburban homes, seemed deeply moved by the simple appeals made to their sympathy by the several speakers.

The Duke of Leinster moved the first resolution, acknowledging it to be the urgent duty of all to unite in relieving the sore distress which has visited the operatives in the manufacturing districts of England.

A subscription list was opened, and in about 15 minuts 2,000£ was contributed in the room. Mr. A. Parker moved the appointment of a committee to collect funds, and said the harvest was abundant if the members of the committee would act as good reapers and gather it in. Sir Robert Peel having taken the chair, Gresham moved a vote of thanks to the Lord Mayor, which was seconded by Mr. Jonathan Pim. Sir Robert Peel announced, amidst the cheers of the assembly, that the amount just subscribed was 2.000£.

The horse fair commenced at Ballinasloe yesterday morning. As usual there was but a scanty supply of first-class animals, the reason being that horses of that kind are bought up in the stables by English dealers during the previous days, so that those which are exhibited on the green are of an inferior class. The number of horses exhibited this year is 20 per cent less than last year. In Connaught the decrease of horses since last year amounts to 3,500. Several buyers have been there for the military and the contabulary. Horses have brought 100£, 150£, and one was sold for 300£. Excellent hunters were bought for 60£ to 40£ and under.

The general abstracts showing the acreage under the several crops and the number of live stock in each county and province of Ireland for the present year, taken under the direction of Mr. Donnelly, the Registrar-General, have been printed. They have been compiled from the summaries made by 4,000 enumerators, selected from the constabulary and the metropolitan police, who have been every where readily assisted by the landed proprietors, the clergy of all denominations, and the tenant farmers. The inquiries commenced on the 2d of June. and terminated in the middle of July, during which period the particulars of the acreage under crops and the number of live stock on nearly 600,000 holdings are enumerated.

Comparing the returns of this years with last, I regret to say that there is a considerable decrease both in the quantity of land under tillage and in the number of live stock. The total number of acres under cereal crops in 1861 was 2.624,957; in 1862, it is 2.552,223, showing a decrease of 72,734 acres. The decrease has occurred chiefly in wheat and oats—in the former, amounting to 43,427, and in the latter to 24,422 acres. There is an increase of 1,000 acres in peas and beans. The net decrease in cereals, comparing 1862 with 1861, is 28 per cent..

There is a decrease to about the same extent in green crops—that is, 74,785 acres. There is an increase in turnips of 43,045 acres; in mangold and beet, of 296 acres; in cabbage, of 491 acres; carrots, parsneps, vetches, and rape have decreased. The most serious matter is the decrease of land under potatoes, which amounts to 116,187 acres. Meadow and clover covered 1,552,829 acres in 1862. being an increase of 6,623 acres above the extent in 1861. We have about 150,000 acres under flax, which is 2,000 more than last year. The total decrease of land under crops in 1862 is 138,841 acres.

Of this area Mr. Donnelly says 117,832 would seem to have merged into grass, 1,066 were returned as under woods and plantations, and 870 went to increase the fallow, leaving 19,000 acres of pasture land unstocked. The quantity which is returned as "bog and waste" is confined entirely to Connaught. The distress which prevailed in some districts last spring prevented the small holders in many instances from putting in their crops as usual. The dearness of labour has probably operated in other districts in lessening the quantity of tillage.

The accounts of the harvest are still very cheering. The oats, though a late crop, have improved very much latterly, and have yielded nearly 10l. an acre. The flax crop is the most remunerative of all. A good acre of flax will this year bring from 40l. to 50l. High prices will naturally stimulate and extend the culture very much. A gentleman who has been travelling in Ulster writes:—

"In the County Fermanagh I first met with the perfume of the flax crop In the east of Enniskilen I found the whole country alive with flax-spreading, flax-steeping, flax-pulling, and flax manufacture; every hill covered with it, the grazing and the meadow land overspread with it. At the flax mills all was hurry and bustle and the scribblers working incessantly."

At the Belturbet Farming Society's meeting on Wednesday one of the judges stated that he had recently travelled 500 miles through England, and he had seen no stock superior to the stock that day exhibited. The show was very successful, though the heavy rain affected the attendance of visitors.

LOCAL EVENTS.

STATE SECRETS.—Query: How did Sr. Varela know, on Saturday, that Government had ceased subscribing to the STANDARD, when our talented Minister, Acosta, says the resolution was come to on Monday? We dare him to answer:

COTTON—The "Nacion Argentina" took from our paper a report of an enterprizing countryman who had come out from England, with the object of planting cotton. The "Nacional" then took it from the former paper, slightly altering the sketch; and the "Tribuna" next day copies it verbatim from the "Nacional."

We have looked in vain for our name at the foot of this information; but our colleagues, as usual, have forgotten.

Sr. Lagraña, one of the capitalists of the province of Corrientes, has arrived, with the object of forming a joint-stock company for its culture in that province.

ENTRE-RIOS.—The native Press state that General Urquiza proposes his son-in-law, a native of Buenos Aires, Dr Victorica, to be Governor of that province, when his own term of office is out. Of course this will keep the government of that province in the hands of the family.

The same, more or less, happened in the province of Santiago, during Rosas's government. General Ibarra had governed for 20 years, and was prevailed upon to show some shadow of constitution to his fellow-citizens; he accordingly had his younger brother elected; but even so, he got tired, turned him out and resumed government.

The times of "compadres" have not yet gone by.

THE UNIVERSITY benches are vacant since the 15th inst, and many of our young friends poring with excessive energy and perseverance over their classics and ponderous law-books.

On the 1st December the gates of the building will be opened again, to admit the trembling aspirants for examination, which will be terminated in 15 days. A new crop of lawyers will be launched into public life; others will establish a reputation for science and talent; and dunces will retire in discomfiture, with their hands in their pockets, to travel another weary year through the same course of studies, or better still, give up books in despair, and take to office-counters

THE NATIONAL ARCHIVE of the Republic which is at present in Parana, will be shipped in a few days for this city in 3 or 400 boxes.

MR, RUMBALL C.E chief Engineer of the Chascomus line is shortly expected from England, very possibly per French mail.

PUBLIC LANDS. All matters relating to public land must in future be decided by the minister of Finance of the Province

DUTCH TRADING COMPANY. This company have already or intend to establish shortly a branch establishment at Montevideo.

We do not know if they intend to do the same here, we think it would be highly convenient to our comercial community for our trade with Holland is great and Buenos Ayres is a city of considerable commercial importance.

A MONUMENT has been designed in Genoa for the city of Montevideo dedicated to the 33 brave invaders who liberated that country in 1825 from the armies of Portugal and Brazil

THE BOCA ROAD. which is one of the principal thoroughfares is in a very bad state, from the negligence of the authorities. The residents of that locality have presented a petition requesting the government to have it repaired and we are informed that measures will be taken to that end.

Works of this nature are comparatively easy where the soil as in the present instance is chiefly composed of sand and they are at the same time durable.

The absence of stone is a serious hindrance to the proper repair and ballasting of our public roads; a substitute might have been found already but there is no stimulus to do it and nobody cares about working to find one.

THE SIGLO. Our geographical colleague cries down an abuse in the corner of the streets Santa Fe and Charcas, said to be a tavern where noisy and obscene jestings taking place continually.

It may be true;—but unhappily both Charcas and Santa Fé streets, lie due East by West at 150 yards distance, and as parallel lines never meet, according to experienced people, we are at a loss to find the precise corner mentioned by our colleague.

This shows a change from the Geographical to the geometrical: we do not think, however, that it is an improvement.

BELGRANO RACES.

The long-talked-of race came off yesterday evening, between "Belgrano," Mr White's horse, and General Hornos' "Patria." "Belgrano" won easily. The General lost $40,000.
